

- I need some unifying topics of interest, not just facts. What do I like to talk about?

106 - Seems to suggest lead pages be "ideas" or sources, or projects

110 - Store notes for discovery, make them very easy to find again in the future. Don't just find notes like a librarian, store them in a way that you'll see them later when you're working on other things. More keywords.

111 - A great keyword not already in the note

- Writing for peers vs. Fans (Working?) (Creating?)

- Make money elsewhere, so you don't need as much from your art
- Hollow compliments from non-expert friends

130 - Each note should fit on the screen, no scrolling

132 - If a note has a lot of references, that's a good thing to write about

- Idea first, source second. Ideas should live in topic areas, not within books or articles

Other source book: Experiment and Exploration. Forms of World Disclosure

Let my people go surfing

7 - Invent your own game and you can always win

92 - Revolving credit to solve cash crunch / how do you make sure one never happens though? How to prevent white graveney?

53 - Can you grow while keeping quality?

61 - Patagonia let go 20% of its employees, sometimes that's the best option. Hired too fast.
